The Villa

This brand new 6-bedroom property is perfect for friends or family looking for a stylish retreat favoured with a great sense of balance when it comes to location and spaces to entertain or relax. Its northwestern location grants Trafos the kind of view where sight can wonder freely, from the many white facades of Mykonos Town all the way out to the world-famous Delos.

Tucked away in a quasi-countryside setting the villa's position also offers an easy route into the busy town and reasonable timing to the main southwestern beaches. The cimentogonia and tiles of the terrace wrap their way around the front of the property flowing towards the free-shaped private pool.

An inviting lounge area swirls around its circular table to the side of the terrace while the al-fresco dining area was designed right at the passage from indoor spaces to the outdoor ones and enjoys shade throughout the day thanks to its dedicated pergola. The minimal yet elegant and functional style seen outdoors spills effortlessly indoors where all the usual suspects of Cycladic architecture are complimented by thoughtfully chosen darker furniture.

The different units allow guests to spread out with privacy though the common areas, both indoor and out, were clearly designed to experience this summer getaway together.
